World Languages Day
THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN
2019

March 30
Saturday
10am to 4pm

Join the Texas Language Center for a day of language and cultural learning in a fun and educational environment!

World Languages Day is a free information fair highlighting the central role language and cultural proficiency play in the growing opportunities for global careers and citizenship. Showcasing the opportunities for language learning at The University of Texas at Austin as well as professions that value language expertise, this exciting event connects UT and area high school students and their parents with world language departments, instructors, students, and professionals and to learn the benefits of language study and global competency.

The inaugural event will include interactive language and culture-teaching sessions, cooking demonstrations, sampling traditional cuisine, and exploring the various study abroad programs and career opportunities these languages offer.
